

Acceptable use policy.

The Customer shall NOT use the services or the servers provided by the Provider to:

- Send unsolicited commercial or bulk email to any party for any reason which may or may not result in a complaint.

Any Customer desiring to send bulk email is required to contact us first, describe the nature of the email messages, and wait for our approval.

Customer accounts that are sending bulk email without our approval will be terminated immediately. No refund will be provided.

- Access or attempt to access a computer or network resource that the Customer is not authorized to access.
- Distribute, link to, or make available in any way to any party intellectual property that requires some method of authorization to sell or distribute.
- Store, transmit, create, or examine any pictures, realistic or not, of humans, anthropomorphic depictions of human-like creatures, or images suggesting humans that are under the age of 18 years in an either implied or actual pornographic picture.
- Forge email headers or TCP/IP packet headers or engage in spoofing.
- Distribute worms, viruses, or Trojans.
- Violate export controls on any software or intellectual property.
- Access IRC. IRC access, IRC robots ("bots" or "clones"), IRC scripts, IRC eggdrops are completely forbidden.
- Commit or attempt to commit any denial of service attack against any computer, network, or individual.
- Use any peer-to-peer programs.
- Perform any form of network flood, DOS, (D)DOS or network attack of other internet machines.
- Abuse the storage disk(s), input/output operations or other kind of resource.
- Abuse other Customers' service level. If large number of input/output disk operations are performed or other kind of resource abuse that is affecting other Customers' service level, The Provider is entitled to suspend the Customer's service.
- Access war bots/X-DCC. War bots/X-DCC are not allowed.
- Attempt to run shell hosting companies from the Provider's service.
- Run game-servers such as HLD or CSS source, game server redirects are also forbidden.

If the Customer is (D)DOSsed, the Provider reserves the right to suspend that account to limit the attack. If the Customer is found to have caused the (D)DOS, that account may be suspended or cancelled and the Customer billed.

Abuse towards the Provider's staff in the form of verbal or other abuse that the Provider deems to be offensive may result in cancellation of the Customer's account.

No free hosting companies are allowed on the Provider's service due to the high risk of abuse by end clients.

Proxies are tolerated for personal use only. Should they cause issue, GetKVM has the right to suspend them and inform the Customer of the need to upgrade or move the proxy.

The Provider does not monitor, and will have no liability for the contents of, or any communications transmitted by virtue of the services. Notwithstanding the aforesaid, the Provider reserves the right to withdraw the service without compensation to the Customer in the event of a breach of the Acceptable Use Policy. Any such breach shall be treated as a fundamental breach of contract.